LASKER PROPOSES A DATE. HE WRITES STEINITZ THAT HE WILL PLAY HIM A RETURN WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH IN ONE YEAR.

As will be remembered Steinitz insisted upon Lasker fixing an early date for a return match for the championship of the world, and declared that if Lasker would not be ready to meet him on on before March 15, he, in all probability, would again claim the title of champion of the world. The fol-lowing letter, which was forwarded to W. Steinitz,

Dear Sir In reply to your letter of the 19th of August I beg to repeat what I said in June, viz. That I shall be very pleased to play a return match with you I did not mention any date in my letter, but I will do so now and fix the 1st of October, 1886, for the beginning of the match. Chess and other engagements that I have entered into, do not allow me to play sooner. If this does not suit you, I am very sorry.

I do not reply to your other, in my opinion, irrelevant remarks, besides, I do not claim to be a match for you in a newspaper fight, but I am—until beaten on the checkered board—the chess champion of the world.

STATE Y. P. S. C. E. CONVENTION. | A TARIFF WAR THREATENED

NINTH ANNUAL GATHERING OF THE SOCIETIES AT ALBANY SERVICES OF THE DAY.

Albany, Oct. 9. The ninth annual convention of ian Endeavor began its sessions in Harmanus were in attendance and the scene in the convention hall was full of life and color, a majority of those present being young women.

The Elmira delegates were first in the field bidding for the convention next year, and succeeded in hav-ing incorporated in the hall decorations a streamer running along the front of the gallery, reading, "E.mira in 1835." Brooklyn also wants the next convention, but Elmira leads.

Platforms were reserved for the State officers and the pastors present, and several hundred of these seats were taken.

The convention opened with a scng service led by Professor John L. Gartland and a local choir of 250 voices. The devotional exercises followed, and then Oren E. Wilson, Mayor of Albany, delivered an address of welcome to the delegates. The Rev. William M. Brundage gave the salutation for the city. Charles Thompson for the Albany union, Lercy M. Collins for the Troy union and Mrs. L. C. Winhold Taylor made an appropriate response, after which reports of the State junior superintendent and the State secretary were presented respectively by Miss Carrie M. Schuyler and A. E. Dewherst. Both showed the work to be making gratifying progress. During the year the membership has been increased 13,090.

The Rev. W. H. Syrbrandt, of Troy, pastor of the church of which Robert Ross was a member, spoke on the lesson of his death.

An address on "Junior Work" was given by Mrs. Alice May Scuddet, of Jersey City, after which there was a free parlament on "Junior Werk," conducted by Miss C. M. Schuyler, of Little Falis.

An address was given this afternoon by Colonel Alexander S. Bacon, of Prosklyn. His subject was "Good Citizenship." He was re vivet with applause, and gave a short but earness exhortation, in the course of which he infurled a smail American fing, which he said he always carried with him. He wanted Endeavorers to pray for and always support the flag. The speaker said he saw in the many earnest facts before him great promise for the future of the Republic. The fear for the future in New-York City had been driven from his mind by the proceedings of the Lexow Committee in New-York City had been driven from his mind by the proceedings of the great army of workers for Christian did to Church. The Junior rally, under the supervision of Miss Carrie M. Schuyler, State Superintendent, presented an inspiring spectacle, about 1,500 youths and maidens entering Convention Hall singing "on-ward. Christian Soldiers." Interesting exercises adapted to the age of the Juniors followed, and addresses were given by State Freedent Taylor and Mrs. Alice May Soudder.

This evening the convention sermon was delivered in Harmanus Bleecker Hall by the Rev. Dr. William R. Taylor, of Rochester, and overflow meetings were held in the Emmanuel Baptist and Trinity M. PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S NEW VENTURE

HIS PREJUDICES AGAINST TRUSTS DO NOT PRE-VENT HIS ENTERING INTO A BUZZARD'S BAY LAND MONOPOLY.

Boston, Oct. 9 (Special).-That great and good document known as the Democratic platform in the National election of 1892 has been knocked into smithereens. The flerce denunciation of trusts and combinations of capital contained in that document has gone for naught, and here comes Grover

"The Buzzard's Bay Compan; the combination of capital which has bought up-for small sums all the available land on Buzzard's Bay, and will sell it out for large amounts, and since it has secured a monopoly there, it can put its foot upon "free competition, which is the life of honest trade," even in lands. President Cleveland combination, and the other trustees are Moses Williams and William Minot, ir, of Boston, Mr. Williams is a Mucwomp and a member of the Massachusetts Reform Club, and has as strong an antipathy to combinations of capital as has Mr.

Williams is a Missian Chib, and his as strong an antipathy to combinations of capital as has Mr. Cleveland.

Some time ago the trustees sent out circulars describing the purposes of the company, but they have been for the most part called in. It was feared that it would injure the party to have them circulated too freely, but there are still several copies extant. In this commonwealth, where Mr. Cleveland is a sort of feld among a certain class of people, and has his strongest hold with the Independents, it is against the policy of the State to charter concerns which speculate in lands and hold them in trust after this manner. The circulars state that the company has "cornered" all "that remains available" of the land on fluzzard's Bay-about 3,000 acres, comprising eighteen miles of water-front.

The mysterious drift of so many of Mr. Cleveland's friends to the fluzzard's Bay region is now explained. The reason why Charles summer Hamilin established hiruself there, why Broter lienedict with his trim yacht, anchored so often offshore, is now apparent; the reason why the Vice-Freedent is proposing to make himself a summer home on this shore is growing clear. That also explains to some extent why the Legislature was asked to prohibit fishermen, except with line hook and sinker, from taking fish in fluzzard's Bay, and that is why this is the law to-day. In the circulars particular attention is called to the famous "dusle" train on the road to fluzzard's Bay, with an invitation to others to make use of it. The "communism of pelf" has made the trustees so unfeeling that they gloat over the monopolistic met that "the consolidation of these lands under one control removes all danger which might nossibly arise from the placing of other lands on the market in competition to those owned by the company." Owing to the scarcity of the circulars great premiums are being offered for copies. It is said that nothing will be done by the company this fall, now that Mr. Cleveland's connection with it is out, but that next spring, a

THE NEW SUGAR SCHEDULE A BLOW AT GERMANY.

Bleecker Hall to-day. Several thousand delegates OPINIONS OF LEADING DEALERS IN THE GREAT

Berlin, Oct. 9 .- A representative of the United Press has had interviews with a number of the leading dealers in the great sugar centre of Magdeburg. Among them the senior partner in the house of Neubauer & Co. says in regard to the sugar schedule of the Tariff bill recently passed by the

T. O. Drake & Co. say:

The tax is directed against all bounty-paying countries, whether, as in Germany, the bounty is paid openly, or, as in France and Austria, it is paid covertly. American consumers will have to pay dearer for their sugar, for they are unable to produce enough for their own consumption, and must necessarily import some of their supply, whether they buy in a dear market or a cheap one. If this prediction is not fulfilled, then France will have the advantage, but that will not ruin Germany, who will export her sugar to some other country than America. It won't kill the German farmer if he does get a little less for his beet roots. The German tarmer can stand anything.

Arnold, Kohn & Co. express the opinion that sugar will be doubly depressed as the result of the new tariff. The sugar harvest for 1891 is the largest since 1885, but the increased duty will prevent the Americans from buying sugar from other markets. The German refiners and growers are not at all friendly toward the authorities in Berlin. They blame them for allowing American grain to inundate Germany, whose sugar is locked out from the United States. Unless this state of affairs is altered it will result in a crisis.

Coste & Lippert say: Coste & Lippert say:

Coste & Lipper: say:

If France and Germany are treated upon equitable terms Germany will suffer no injury. Even if she alone shall have to bear the duty, her exporters and refiners will still be able to compete with France. It will be the beet-root growers that will suffer. Many of these will be ruined and others will cultivate other crops than beet-root. Germany may possing find a market in China instead of the United States within a few years. America will have to pay Germany's own price, for she cannot dispense with German sugar for any length of time. In the mean time there will be a crise in Germany. The German agriculturists are getting next to nothing for their grain, and the same is true as to the price they will get for beet-root. The Government cannot impassively see the farming population ruined.

The "Frehinninge Zeitung," of Herlin, says

WashingtomPoct 2. The dispatch from Berlin con-

Washington@Oct. 9. The dispatch from Berlin containing interviews with the leading sugar dealers in the great producing centre of Magdeburg gives expression to a compaint which was predicted when the sugar echedule was under consideration in the Senate, and later in conference. The "increased" and the "extra duty" referred to by these dealers is sugars exported from any country which pays uct of that country and no other; at least German; uct of that country and no other, at least Germany is the only beet-surar producing country which figures in the importations of sugar into this country, and the restrictions thus imposed by the new law act with some hardship upon her exported product. The Wilson law provides, however that, if it is satisfactorily shown that this bonny has not been collected on the sugar sent to the third States, the discriminating duty shall not be collected when such goods are entered here.

At the time this discriminating duty was inserted in the bill it was said that the l-lo of a cent a pennal at which it was fixed would about offset the export bounty poil by the German Government, and cause German sugar to ome into the United States on the same basis as sogar from other countries. Soon after the proposition was advanced in the Senate it was intimated to some of the Democratic leaders that this discriminating duty would be offensive to Germany and would be looked upon as an act rather in the nature of unfriently legislation against a Government which had been particularly anxious to maintain trade relations with this country. Although the Senate, it was known to the leaders on both sides of the chamber that the State Department had received a protest from the German Government against the proposed discriminating duty. At that time, however, at the debate had been going on so long and the time for taking the vote had been agreed to, it was deemed the part of wisching to be expunded, and it would have been stricken out had the committee ever been able to make a report. If was not stricken out because circumstances forced the acceptance of the Senate bill on the part of the Hoses, with all its errors and mistakes, which it was supposed that the conferees would eliminate.
